Mr. J. S. Pettinger, the Tarrant county stockman who last week paid the top price for 100 yearlings to the Matador two-year-old scrubs at 89.

A Hamilton county, Texas, correspondent of the Home and Farm says, that if stockmen will give their cows an overgorge of cotton seed it will help, if not cure, them of creeps or stiff disease, for he has tried it and knows of cows that have been cured sound and well. Give them all they will eat; there is plenty of that disease in this country, but it is alsaw any have it but what did suckle.

From the report of the Fort Worth and Denver Railway, presented by the presithe year mentioned the Fort Worth and made up of 125,133 head of cattle, 3164 road for the year, being an increase of over the year previous. Since the road opened for business it has hauled 26,576 cars of stock or 779,438 head.

Mr. H C. Holloway, one of Tarrent county's able commissioners, brought to THE GAZRTTE office for exhibition several bunches of Alfaifa clover, grown on his the courthouse. The grass has been cut itentiary for two years; and, whereas it farm one and one-quarter miles north of twice during the season and the third crop was again rich and luxuriant and about ten inches long. The roots were some three or four feet long and it is said they grow downward to a depth of fifteen feet. Texas stock. Mr. Holloway says he has been feeding it for some time and finds better results than from any other character of grass. About six tons per acre can be raised on suitable land and by frequent cuttings the grass can be saved while young and nourishing.

Cotulla Ledger: "Inssmuch as the eyes of all the stockmen of Texas are now turned upon LaSalle county, watching to see how the feeding of beef cattle on cotton-seed meal and prickly pear is going ing will realize the importance of the are all very kind to those they have to pan out, we trust that every one feedsituation and do the stock they feed astice. The outcome is being watched h more interest abroad than our people imagine, and a great deal depends upon the result of the feeding business in this county this winter. If the stockmen here make a thorough success of the business, their example will be followed next winter by almost every county in the state where the growth of the prickly pear is sufficient to warrant it. This will serve to lift the stockmen out of debt and make the vocation of stock raising a pleasant as well as a profitable one, whereas for years past it has been a drudge and no money to be

"What the newspapers in this part of the state ought to point out to the farmers is the fact that while they are getting into debt raising cotton they might be getting rich growing corn for stock feed."

So spoke a gentleman in one of the hotels the other evening, and he was supplied with a quantity of arguments to sted, some of which are given for what

A 900-pound steer is worth now 2c a pound or $18. Thirty-five bushels of corn will, at 30c, cost $10 50, and that will put 200 pounds of fi sh on the steer; so altogether your 1100-pound corn-fed steer costs you $28 50. The steer can now be sold for 4c per pound, I. e. $44, giving a clear profit of $15 50 for the beef alone. The value of the manure and the hulls for hogs will make the profit $20 easily, all made with thirty-five ushels of corn that could be grown on one acre of land.

Now to look at the cotton-growing. Three acres of land will grow a bale, year in and year out. The bale weighs 500 pounds, and there is a clear profit of 2c per pound on it. The grower makes $10 on three acres of land where, with corn, he might have made $20 on one acre. "The fact is," says the gentleman, "if a cotton-grower makes 2c per pound on his cotton he is doing extraordinarily well. He generally comes out in debt at the end of the season.
